Revenue in the quarter increased 1% versus the prior year to $2.8 billion. Organic revenue grew 1% in the quarter with 8% growth in products, 4% growth in service and a 6% decline in installation revenue. Acquisitions contributed two percentage points of growth which was offset by the impact of divestitures and changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

For the full year, the company reported GAAP diluted earnings per share from continuing operations of $1.12 and diluted earnings per share from continuing operations before special items of $1.84. Revenue of $10.6 billion increased 2%. Organic revenue growth for the year was 1% with 6% growth in products, 3.5% growth in service and a 4% decline in installation. Acquisitions contributed two percentage points of growth, which was partially offset by divestitures and changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

“This was another very good quarter and a solid finish to the fiscal year. Accelerated growth in service and products, along with increased benefits of our productivity initiatives, drove 130 basis points of segment operating margin expansion and 16% EPS growth in the quarter*,” said Tyco Chief Executive Officer George Oliver.

“During our first year as the new Tyco, we have made significant progress both strategically and operationally. We accelerated service growth, sustained the growth momentum in our products business and improved the profitability of our installation revenue. Additionally, we transitioned to an operating company structure, strengthened our functional capabilities and drove operational improvements across all of the businesses. We also completed five acquisitions and have a strong pipeline of opportunities to further strengthen our global leadership position. Overall, we delivered strong double-digit EPS growth in year one and I feel we are well positioned to deliver on our three year commitment,” Oliver added.

Organic revenue, free cash flow and adjusted free cash flow, operating income, segment operating income, and diluted and normalized EPS from continuing operations before special items are non-GAAP financial measures and are described below. For a reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures, see the attached tables. Additional schedules as well as fourth quarter review slides can be found at www.tyco.com on the Investor Relations portion of Tyco’s website.

Revenue of $996 million included service growth of 5% and an installation decline of 10%, due to continued pressure in the non-residential construction market coupled with project selectivity. In total, organic revenue declined 2% year-over-year. Backlog of $2.4 billion decreased 2% year-over-year and, due to normal seasonality, declined 1.5% on a quarter sequential basis, excluding the impact of foreign currency.

Operating income for the quarter was $113 million and the operating margin was 11.3%. Special items of $20 million consisted primarily of restructuring and separation charges. Before special items, operating income was $133 million and the operating margin was 13.4%, a 110 basis point improvement to prior year. Normalizing for the dis-synergy costs associated with the separation of our North America commercial security business from ADT, the operating margin improved 200 basis points year-over-year due to a higher mix of service revenue, improved execution in installation and productivity benefits.

Revenue for the full year was $3.9 billion, decreasing 2% year-over-year due to a 1% organic revenue decline and a divestiture. Operating income was $388 million and included $86 million of special items. Before special items, operating income was $474 million and the operating margin increased 80 basis points to 12.2%. Normalizing for the dis-synergy costs associated with the separation described above, the operating margin before special items improved 170 basis points year-over-year.

NON-GAAP MEASURES

Organic revenue, free cash flow (outflow) (FCF), and income from continuing operations, earnings per share (EPS) from continuing operations, operating income and segment operating income, and normalized EPS, in each case "before special items," are non-GAAP measures and should not be considered replacements for GAAP results.

Organic revenue is a useful measure used by the company to measure the underlying results and trends in the business. The difference between reported net revenue (the most comparable GAAP measure) and organic revenue (the non-GAAP measure) consists of the impact from foreign currency, acquisitions and divestitures, and other changes that either do not reflect the underlying results and trends of the company's businesses or are not completely under management's control. There are limitations associated with organic revenue, such as the fact that, as presented herein, the metric may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. These limitations are best addressed by using organic revenue in combination with GAAP numbers. Organic revenue may be used as a component in the company's incentive compensation plans.

FCF is a useful measure of the company's cash that permits management and investors to gain insight into the number that management employs to measure cash that is free from any significant existing obligation and is available to service debt and make investments. The difference between Cash Flows from Operating Activities (the most comparable GAAP measure) and FCF (the non-GAAP measure) consists mainly of significant cash flows that the company believes are useful to identify. It, or a measure that is based on it, may be used as a component in the company's incentive compensation plans. The difference reflects the impact from:

- net capital expenditures,
- dealer generated accounts and bulk accounts purchased,
- cash paid for purchase accounting and holdback liabilities, and
- voluntary pension contributions.

Capital expenditures and dealer generated and bulk accounts purchased are subtracted because they represent long-term investments that are required for normal business activities. Cash paid for purchase accounting and holdback liabilities is subtracted because these cash outflows are not available for general corporate uses. Voluntary pension contributions are added because this activity is driven by economic financing decisions rather than operating activity. In addition, from time to time the company may present adjusted free cash flow, which is free cash flow, adjusted to exclude the cash impact of the special items highlighted below. This number provides information to investors regarding the cash impact of certain items management believes are useful to identify, as described below.

The limitation associated with using these cash flow metrics is that they adjust for cash items that are ultimately within management's and the Board of Directors' discretion to direct and therefore may imply that there is less or more cash that is available for the company's programs than the most comparable GAAP measure. Furthermore, these non-GAAP metrics may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. These limitations are best addressed by using FCF in combination with the GAAP cash flow numbers.

The company has presented its income and EPS from continuing operations, operating income and segment operating income before special items. Special items include charges and gains related to divestitures, acquisitions, restructurings and similar actions, impairments, certain changes to accounting methodologies, legacy legal, environmental and tax charges and other income or charges that may mask the underlying operating results and/or business trends of the company or business segment, as applicable. The company utilizes these measures to assess overall operating performance and segment level core operating performance, as well as to provide insight to management in evaluating overall and segment operating plan execution and underlying market conditions. The Company also presents its effective tax rate as adjusted for special items for consistency, and presents corporate expense excluding special items. One or more of these measures may be used as components in the company's incentive compensation plans. These measures are useful for investors because they may permit more meaningful comparisons of the company's underlying operating results and business trends between periods. The difference between income and EPS from continuing operations before special items and income and EPS from continuing operations (the most comparable GAAP measures) consists of the impact of the special items noted above on the applicable GAAP measure. The limitation of these measures is that they exclude the impact (which may be material) of items that increase or decrease the company's reported GAAP metrics, and these non-GAAP metrics may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. These limitations are best addressed by using the non-GAAP measures in combination with the most comparable GAAP measures in order to better understand the amounts, character and impact of any increase or decrease on reported results.

The company provides general corporate services to its segments and those costs are reported in the "Corporate and Other" segment. This segment's operating income (loss) is presented as "Corporate Expense." Segment Operating Income represents Tyco's operating income excluding the Corporate and Other segment, and reflects the results of Tyco's three operating segments. Segment Operating Income before special items reflects GAAP operating income adjusted for the special items noted in the paragraph above.

In order to provide more meaningful comparison of fiscal 2013 results to fiscal 2012 results, normalized EPS before special items is presented. Normalized EPS adjusts fiscal 2012 GAAP results by replacing the GAAP interest and corporate expenses reported for fiscal 2012 (on a pre-separation basis) with the interest and corporate expenses estimated to be incurred in fiscal 2013 (on a post-separation basis), and adding estimated dis-synergy costs related to the separation of the Company's North American security business to fiscal 2012 results. Normalized EPS before special items further adjusts normalized EPS for the special items above.
